INTRODUCTION.

"Ignorantia legis neminem excusat." That every citizen must be presumed to know the law — though as a matter of fact not even the wisest jurist can know it in its entirety — seems at first blush to be a harsh rule. Further consideration, however, shows that it is the only possible rule for civilized society, and must be strictly adhered to. If ignorance of the law were once allowed as a defence it would of course be pleaded by the defendant in all cases, and in most cases the defendant would be able to prove his plea.

It is with the object of helping the citizens of Massachusetts, and especially the farmers, to know a small part of what they are already presumed to know as a whole that this little book has been compiled. It contains the Massachusetts laws dealing with agriculture as they stood at the prorogation of the General Court of 1916. To avoid duplication, however, certain statutes, though more or less closely related to agriculture, have not been included as they have been published in other compilations. Among these are the dairy statutes and decisions, published by the Dairy Bureau of the State Board of Agriculture; the "Forestry Laws" and those relating to the suppression of the gypsy and brown-tail moth, published by the State Forester; the laws relating to the suppression of cattle diseases, compiled by the Department of Animal Industry; the "Fish and Game Laws," issued by the Board of Commissioners on Fisheries and Game; and the "Weights and Measures Laws," issued by the Department of Weights and Measures. On account of the importance of the deer, pheasant and dog laws, in their relation to the farmer, however, these have been included, as well as the sections from the weights and measures act, fixing the weights of farm produce.

On account of the arrangement of the statutes according to subject the laws are not in chronological or numerical order. A particular statute of a certain year may be found by looking in the index of statutes, on page 173.

Digests of the most important decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court on the agricultural law have been also included in the book. In most cases the reporter's headnote has been used, though in a few cases it has seemed better to use an extract from the decision itself. The cases are indexed by both name and volume. A list of the officials charged with the enforcement of the various laws relating to agriculture has also been included, and will be found on page 169. — EDITOR.

It shall be the duty of the state nursery inspector, either personally or through his deputies, to inspect at least once each year all nurseries or places in the state where nursery stock is grown, and if no dangerous insects or fungous pests are found therein, a certificate to that effect shall be given by him. If such pests are found therein the owner of the stock shall take such measures to suppress the same as the state nursery inspector shall prescribe, and no certificate shall be given until the said inspector has satisfied himself by subsequent inspections that all such pests have been suppressed.

Agent's Licenses.

SECTION 3. Agents or other persons, excepting growers, who sell nursery stock shall make application to the state nursery inspector for an agent's license, and shall file with him the names and addresses of all persons or nurseries from which they purchase their stock. On receipt of such application, the state nursery inspector shall issue an agent's license, valid for one year, in such form and with such provisions as the state board of agriculture may prescribe. The license may be revoked at any time for failure to report the names and addresses of persons or nurseries from which stock is purchased, or for such other cause as may be deemed sufficient by the state nursery

If the person or persons so notified shall refuse or neglect so to treat or destroy such trees, shrubs or other plants within the time prescribed, the state nursery inspector may cause such property to be so treated, or destroyed, and may employ all necessary assistants for this purpose, and such assistants shall have the right to enter upon any public or private property, if such entry is necessary for this purpose. Upon the completion of said treatment the state nursery inspector shall certify in writing to the owner or person in charge of the treated property the amount of the cost of such treatment, and if this be not paid to the secretary of the state board of agriculture within ninety days thereafter, the same may be recovered by suit, together with the costs of suit.

Appeal may be taken, etc.

SECTION 8. In case of objection to the action of the state nursery inspector or his deputy in executing any provision of this act, an appeal may be taken within ten days to the secretary of the state board of agriculture, and the appeal shall act as a stay of proceedings until it has been heard and decided by the secretary of the state board of agriculture, whose decision shall be final.

Powers of the Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

SECTION 9. When the secretary of the state board of agriculture has heard an appeal and has rendered a decision that the action of the state nursery inspector from which the appeal was taken is sustained, the state nursery inspector shall notify in writing the owner or owners, occupant or person in charge of the trees, shrubs, or other plants concerned, of the decision of the secretary, and shall direct him or them within a given time to treat or destroy the trees, shrubs or other plants in accordance with a method prescribed in the notice. SECTION 12. The state nursery inspector, with the approval of the secretary of the state board of agriculture, may prohibit for such periods and under such conditions as in his judgment may seem necessary, the delivery within the state of nursery stock from any other state, province or country when in his opinion such nursery stock is liable to be infested with insect pests or diseases not already present in this state. He, with the approval of the secretary of the state board of agriculture, shall have power to prescribe such general requirements as may be needed to carry out the provisions of this act, and may publish information about such insects and diseases as are concerned in this act.

If upon subsequent inspection the disease is still found to exist in the apiary or colony, the inspector of apiaries or his deputies may cause the diseased colonies to be destroyed in such manner as to prevent the spread of the disease.

Regulations concerning Shipping or Transportation of Bees.

SECTION 6. No colony of bees shall be shipped or transported into the state for delivery to any consignee residing within the state from any state or foreign country having an inspector of apiaries or other officer charged with the duties commonly performed by an inspector of apiaries, unless said colony be accompanied by a certificate in writing from such officer, stating that he has inspected said colony and that it is free from infectious or contagious diseases. When any fertilizer, other than the product of gas-houses, known as gas-house lime, is offered or exposed for sale in bulk the label shall be affixed in a conspicuous place to the bin or other enclosure in which the fertilizer is contained but need not state the number of pounds thereof. And when any fertilizer other than gas-house lime aforesaid is sold in bulk, the label shall be affixed in a conspicuous place to the car or other vehicle in which the fertilizer is shipped or delivered and shall state the number of pounds thereof. When any fertilizer is sold in packages furnished by the purchaser the seller shall furnish the labels therefor.

SECTION 3. The provisions of the printed label required by this act relating to the constituents contained in any fertilizer shall be known and recognized as the guaranteed analysis of such fertilizer, and the available phosphoric acid in basic phosphatic slag shall be stated in the label thereof on the basis of the results of an analysis by the Wagner Method, so-called, until such time as the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of North America shall adopt a method of analysis for basic phosphatic slag, after which the available phosphoric acid shall be stated on the basis of an analysis by the method of said association.

Violation of Act.

SECTION 4. Any manufacturer, importer, or other person selling or offering or exposing for sale in this commonwealth a commercial fertilizer or brand of commercial fertilizer, any constituent part of which is of a smaller percentage than it is stated to be in the label of said fertilizer, and any manufacturer, importer, or other person selling or offering or exposing for sale in this commonwealth a fertilizer or brand of fertilizer with a label which is untrue in any particular, shall be deemed to have committed a violation of this act.

True Copy of Label to be filed.

SECTION 5. No manufacturer, importer, or other person shall sell or offer or expose for sale in this commonwealth any commercial fertilizer until he shall have filed with the director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station a copy certified by him to be a true copy of the label required by this act, excepting the item as to the number of pounds, for every brand of fertilizer to be sold or offered or exposed for sale in this commonwealth, and shall have paid to the said director an annual analysis fee for every brand aforesaid as follows: eight dollars for nitrogen, eight dollars for phosphoric acid, eight dollars for potash contained or stated to be contained in any such brand of fertilizer, and twelve dollars for every brand of agricultural lime except gas-house lime. The certified copy of the label of every brand of fertilizer to be sold or offered or exposed for sale in this commonwealth shall be filed with, and the proper analysis fee for every such brand shall be paid to, the director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station prior to the first day of January of the calendar year in which the brand is to be sold or offered or exposed for sale. But should a manufacturer, importer, or other person desire in any year to sell or to offer or expose for sale in this commonwealth any brand of commercial fertilizer in respect of which the requirements of this section as to the filing of a copy of the label thereof and the payment of the analysis fee therefor have not been complied with before the first day of January of said year, the said manufacturer, importer or other person may offer or expose for sale and sell the said brand in this commonwealth upon filing a certified copy as aforesaid of the label thereof and paying the full analysis fee therefor. No agent or other person shall be obliged to file a copy of the label of, or pay an analysis fee for, any brand of fertilizer for which a certified copy of the label has been filed and the analysis fee has been paid by the manufacturer or importer of such brand.

Any manufacturer, importer, or other person filing with the director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station a false copy of the printed label of any fertilizer or brand of fertilizer shall be deemed to have committed a violation of this act.

Certificate of filing Label.

SECTION 6. When both the certified copy of the label of any brand of fertilizer has been filed and the analysis fee therefor has been paid as provided in section five of this act, the director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station shall issue or cause to be issued a certificate to that effect; and the certificate shall be deemed to authorize the sale in this commonwealth, in compliance with this act, of the brand of fertilizer for which the certificate is issued, up to and including the thirty-first day of December of the year for which it is issued.

Analysis.

SECTION 7. Every commercial fertilizer and brand of commercial fertilizer sold or offered or exposed for sale in this commonwealth shall be subject to analysis by the director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station or by his duly designated deputy or deputies. And the said director is hereby authorized and it is made his duty to make or cause to be made in each year one or more analyses of every fertilizer and brand of fertilizer sold or offered or exposed for sale in this commonwealth, and to collect the annual analysis fee provided for by section five of this act. The said director, his inspectors and deputies, are further authorized to enter upon any premises where any commercial fertilizer is sold or offered or exposed for sale to ascertain if the provisions of this act are complied with, and to take samples for analysis as provided for by this act. The analysis of all fertilizers shall be made by the methods adopted by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of North America, except that basic phosphatic slag may be analyzed by the Wagner Method, so-called, until a method of analysis therefor is adopted by said association. The said director shall have the right to publish or cause to be published in reports, bulletins, special circulars or otherwise, the results obtained by said analyses, and in connection therewith shall, in each case, state the cost of equivalent amounts of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash in unmixed materials when bought for cash on the market at retail. Said reports, bulletins, circulars, or other publications shall also contain such additional information in relation to the character, composition, value and use of the fertilizers analyzed as the said director in his discretion may see fit to include. The said director may at any time make or cause to be made for any person a free analysis of any commercial fertilizer or brand of commercial fertilizer sold or offered or exposed for sale in this commonwealth, but he shall not be obliged to make such free analysis, or to cause the same to be made, unless the samples therefor are taken and submitted in accordance with the rules and regulations which may be prescribed by him. The results of any analysis made in accordance with the provisions of this act, except a free analysis as aforesaid, shall be sent by the director to the person named in the printed label of the fertilizer analyzed at least fifteen days before any publication thereof.

Taking of Samples, etc.

SECTION 8. All samples of commercial fertilizers taken for analysis shall be of not less than substantially one and one-half pounds in weight, and every sample shall be taken, whenever the circumstances conveniently permit, in the presence of the person selling or offering or exposing for sale the fertilizer sampled, or of a representative of such person. Broken packages shall not be sampled, and all samples shall be taken from substantially ten per cent of the fertilizer to be sampled, except that in the case of a fertilizer sold or offered or exposed for sale in bulk ten single samples shall be taken from as many different portions of the lot. All samples taken shall be thoroughly mixed and divided into two nearly equal samples, placed in suitable vessels and marked and sealed. Both shall be retained by the director, but one shall be held intact by him for the period of one year at the disposal of the person named in the label of the fertilizer sampled.

Penalty.

SECTION 9. Any person hindering or obstructing the director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, or any inspector or deputy of the said director, in the discharge of the authority or duty conferred or imposed by any provision of this act and any person violating any provision of sections one, two, three, four and five of this act shall be fined not less than fifty dollars and not more than two hundred dollars for each offence. It shall be the duty of the said director to see that the provisions of this act are complied with, and he may, in his discretion, prosecute or cause to be prosecuted any person violating any provision of this act. But no complaint based upon an analysis of samples shall be made for any such violation, if the samples were taken otherwise than as provided in this act. And no complaint shall be made for a failure of any fertilizer or brand of fertilizer to meet the guaranteed analysis thereof if the analysis of such fertilizer made by the director, or by his deputy or deputies, shows the amounts of the constituents thereof to be substantially equivalent to the percentages stated in the label of the fertilizer.

Fees.

SECTION 10. If the feeding stuff or cattle feed is in bulk, parts shall be taken from not less than five different places in the lot: provided, that this shall not exclude sampling from bulk when the feeding stuff or cattle feed is not exposed sufficiently to take parts from five different places, in which case parts shall be taken from as many places as practicable. All samples thus taken shall be placed in suitable vessels, marked and sealed. A part of each sample shall be held by the said director or his deputy at the disposal of the person named on the tag or label of the feeding stuff sampled for fifteen days after the results of the analysis have been reported as provided in section nine.

Rules and Regulations.

SECTION 13. It shall be the duty of the director of the Massachusetts agricultural experiment station to see that the provisions of this act are complied with, and he may prescribe and enforce such rules and regulations relative to the sale of commercial feeding stuff or cattle feed as he deems necessary to carry into effect the full intent and meaning of this act. He may in his discretion prosecute or cause to be prosecuted any person violating any provision of this act, and no complaints shall be made or prosecuted for any such violation except with the authorization and approval of the said director.

Appropriation.

SECTION 14. To defray the cost of collecting samples, making analyses, and of otherwise carrying out the provisions of this act, a sum not exceeding six thousand dollars shall be allowed annually from the treasury of the commonwealth, payable in quarterly payments into the treasury of said station. All moneys received and disbursed under this act shall be kept in a separate account and shall be audited and reported as are other moneys placed in charge of the trustees of the Massachusetts Agricultural College. In case at any time there should be a surplus, the surplus shall be used in the Massachusetts agricultural experiment station, under the authority of its director, for experiments and research relative to the feeding of farm animals.

The mortgage deeds securing such loans shall contain a provision for immediate foreclosure if the money lent is applied in whole or in part to purposes not hereby authorized, or if, in the opinion of the directors, it is being spent unwisely or wastefully.

Sale of Farmland Bonds.

A credit union may, with the approval of the bank commissioner, by vote of its board of directors, issue, sell and trade in its own collateral trust bonds, which shall be known and described as farmland bonds and shall be secured as hereinafter provided by the deposit of first mortgage notes on farm lands and the mortgages securing the same. In case of failure of a credit union to pay the interest upon its bonds or the principal when due, the bonds shall be an underlying lien on all its assets and the bank commissioner shall forthwith take possession of the assets and wind up the affairs of the corporation. Loans on the security of first mortgages on farm lands shall be made, and bonds of credit unions secured thereby shall be issued, in accordance with the provisions of chapter two hundred and thirty-one of the General Acts of the current year relating to farmland mortgages and farmland bonds, and any acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, so far as applicable.

Certain Officers not to receive Compensation.

Certain Restrictions upon Directors.

No member of the board of directors shall, directly or indirectly, borrow from the corporation or become surety for any loan or advance made by it, unless such loan or advance shall have been approved at a meeting of the members of the credit union by a majority vote of those present, and the notice of such meeting shall have stated that the question of loans to directors would be considered at such meeting.

Compensation of Certain Officers.

The officers elected by the board of directors may receive such compensation as the board shall authorize.

Guaranty Fund.

SECTION 20. Before the payment of an annual dividend in any year, there shall be set apart as a guaranty fund twenty per cent of the net income which has accumulated during the fiscal year, except as hereinafter provided. Said fund and the investments thereof shall belong to the corporation and shall be held to meet contingencies or losses in its business. All entrance fees shall be added at once to the guaranty fund. Upon recommendation of the board of directors, the members at any annual meeting may increase, and, whenever said fund equals or exceeds the amount of capital stock actually paid in, may decrease, the proportion of profits which is required by this section to be set apart as a guaranty fund: provided, that, if the corporation holds stock in other credit unions or in farmland banks, the percentage of profits to be set apart as a guaranty fund shall not be decreased until the amount of the fund equals or exceeds the amount of capital stock of the corporation actually paid in and in addition thereto the amount actually paid for the shares of stock in such credit unions and farmland banks.

Supervisory Committee to make Report.

SECTION 21. Immediately before a meeting of the directors called to consider the recommendation of a dividend, the supervisory committee shall make a thorough audit of the receipts, disbursements, income, assets and liabilities of the corporation for the fiscal year, and shall make a full report thereon to the directors. Said report shall be read at the annual meeting and shall be filed and preserved with the records of the corporation.

Dividends, Source.

SECTION 22. At the annual meeting, a dividend may be declared from income which has been actually collected during the fiscal year next preceding and which remains after the deduction of all expenses, losses, interest on deposits, and the amount required to be set apart as a guaranty fund, or such dividend may be declared in whole or in part from undivided earnings of preceding years not to exceed twenty per cent thereof in any one year, provided such earnings are a part of the surplus of the corporation in excess of all requirements of the guaranty fund.

How paid.

Such dividends shall be paid on all fully paid shares outstanding at the close of the fiscal year, but shares which become fully paid during the year shall be entitled only to a proportional part of said dividend, calculated from the first day of the month following such payment in full. Dividends due to a member shall be paid to him in cash or credited to the account of partly paid shares for which he has subscribed.

Report to Bank Commissioner.

SECTION 23. Within twenty days after the last business day of October in each year, every credit union shall make to the bank commissioner a report in such form as he may prescribe, signed by the president, treasurer and a majority of the supervisory committee, who shall certify and make oath that the report is correct according to their best knowledge and belief. Any credit union which neglects to make the said report within the time herein prescribed shall forfeit to the commonwealth five dollars for each day during which such neglect continues.

Expulsion of Members.

SECTION 24. The board of directors may expel from a credit union any member who has not carried out his engagements with the credit union, or who has been convicted of a criminal offence, or who neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this act or of the by-laws, or whose private life is a source of scandal, or who habitually neglects to pay his debts, or who shall become insolvent or bankrupt, or who shall have deceived the corporation or any committee thereof with regard to the use of borrowed money; but no member shall so be expelled until he has been informed in writing of the charges against him, and an opportunity has been given to him, after reasonable notice, to be heard thereon.

Disposition of Funds upon Withdrawal.

The amounts paid in on shares or deposited by members who have withdrawn or have been expelled shall be paid to them, in the order of withdrawal or expulsion, but only as funds therefor become available and after deducting any amounts due by such members to the credit union. Such expulsion shall not operate to relieve a member from any remaining liability to the credit union.

Dissolution of Corporation.

SECTION 25. At any meeting specially called for the purpose the members, upon recommendation of not less than two thirds of the board of directors, may dissolve the corporation by vote of two thirds of the members of the credit union entitled to vote. A committee of three shall thereupon be elected to liquidate the assets of the corporation under the direction of the bank commissioner, and each share of the capital stock, according to the amount paid in thereon, shall be entitled to its proportional part of the assets in liquidation after all deposits and debts have been paid.

Repeals.

SECTION 26. Chapter four hundred and nineteen of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and nine and chapter four hundred and thirty seven of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and fourteen are hereby repealed. All credit unions incorporated prior to the passage of this act shall be hereafter subject to the provisions of this act, but the provisions of this act shall not affect any rights acquired under any contract made by such credit unions prior to the passage of this act. The provisions of this act shall not be rendered inoperative or be limited or otherwise affected by any acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith.

The board is hereby authorized to grant such consent when it is satisfied that the proposed field of operation is favorable to the success of a farmland bank, and that the standing of the proposed incorporators is such as to give assurance that its affairs will be administered in accordance with the spirit of this act. The words "Farmland Bank" shall be a part of the corporate name of every corporation organized under the provisions of this act, and the word "Farmland" shall not be used in the corporate name of any other corporation doing business in this commonwealth.

First. — To adopt and use a corporate seal.

Second. — To have perpetual succession in its corporate name unless dissolved according to the provisions of this act.

(a) That such loans shall be made for a term not longer than thirty-five years, and shall be secured by a first mortgage on farm lands.

(b) That no loan shall exceed fifty per cent of the value of the mortgaged property, the value to be determined by an appraisal by the committee on loans as hereinafter provided.

(c) That every mortgage for a period longer than five years shall contain a mandatory provision for the amortization of the loan at maturity, or reduction of the same by annual, semi-annual, or quarterly payments on account of principal.

(d) That every loan, for a period longer than five years, or any unpaid balance thereof, may be paid off in whole or in part by the borrower, in accordance with rules to be prescribed by the said bank and approved by the commissioner, at any interest period after such loan has continued for five years.

Eighth. — To issue, sell and trade in its own collateral trust bonds, which shall be known and described as farmland bonds and shall be secured, as hereinafter provided, by the deposit of first mortgage notes on farm lands and the mortgages securing the same.

Organization.

SECTION 4. Farmland banks shall be organized under the provisions, so far as applicable, of sections two to six, inclusive, of chapter three hundred and seventy-four of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and four, as amended by section four of chapter two hundred and four of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and six, and any other amendments thereof, except that the fee for filing and recording the articles of organization, including the issuing by the secretary of the commonwealth of the certificate of incorporation, shall be five dollars.

The provisions relating to supervision by the bank commissioner, so far as applicable, of chapter five hundred and ninety of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight and any amendments thereof, shall apply to banks incorporated under this act.

By-laws.

SECTION 5. The by-laws may prescribe, subject to the provisions of this act, the name of the corporation, the purposes for which it is formed, the location of the principal office, the time and place of holding and the manner of conducting its meetings, the number of shareholders and directors necessary to constitute a quorum, the powers and duties of its directors and officers, the expediency of providing for an executive committee and the number of members thereof and the duties which may be delegated to it, the amount of the treasurer's bond and the expediency of requiring bonds of other officers or directors of the bank, and the amount of such bonds, the conditions under which a new certificate of stock may be issued in place of a certificate which is alleged to have been lost or destroyed, the requisite notice and advertisement when bonds are called before maturity, the method in general of transacting its business, and the manner by which the by-laws may be altered, amended or repealed.

Fiscal Year.

SECTION 6. The fiscal year of every farmland bank shall end at the close of business on the last business day of October.

Directors, Officers and Committees.

SECTION 7. The business of every bank subject to this act shall be managed and conducted by a board of not less than six nor more than fifteen directors, a president, a vice president, a clerk, a treasurer, a committee on loans of five members, an auditing committee of three members, and such other officers, committees and agents as the by-laws may authorize. The clerk, treasurer, board of directors, and auditing committee shall be elected annually by ballot by the shareholders. The president, vice president, and committee on loans shall be elected annually by ballot by the board of directors. The president and vice president shall be chosen from the board of directors. Two thirds of the members of the board of directors shall be shareholders, and the remainder shall be borrowers from the bank who are not shareholders, if there is a sufficient number of such borrowers. All officers and the members of the auditing committee shall be shareholders. All officers and directors of the corporation shall be residents of the commonwealth and shall be elected for a term of one year and until their successors are duly elected and qualified. The manner of choosing or of appointing all other officers, committees, and agents, and of filling all vacancies shall be prescribed by the by-laws, and, in default of such by-law, vacancies may be filled by the board of directors, except vacancies in the auditing committee.

Powers and Duties of Directors and Officers.

SECTION 8. The board of directors shall exercise all the powers of the corporation, except as is otherwise provided by law or by the by-laws of the corporation. A bank may, in its by-laws, provide for an executive committee to be elected by and from its board of directors. To such committee may be delegated the management of the current and ordinary business of the bank, and such other duties as the by-laws may prescribe. The duties of the officers shall be defined in the by-laws. Officers of the bank shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties. The treasurer shall be required, and any other officer entrusted with the property of the bank may be required, to give a bond in such sum and with such sureties as the by-laws may prescribe. The clerk shall record all votes of the corporation in a book to be kept for that purpose.

Committee on Loans.

SECTION 9. The committee on loans shall approve in writing an application for a loan before the same shall be granted. Every application for a loan shall be made in writing and shall state the purpose for which the loan is desired. No loan shall be made, except as is hereinafter provided, unless the committee on loans is satisfied that it tends to benefit the borrower and to develop agricultural resources, nor unless it has received the approval in writing of a majority of the members of the committee, who shall certify after an examination that in their best judgment the loan to be made does not exceed fifty per cent of the value of the property. An applicant for a loan which has been refused by the committee on loans may appeal to the board of directors, who are hereby given authority to approve and authorize loans on appeal from the committee.

Auditing Committee.

SECTION 10. The auditing committee shall inspect the securities, cash and accounts of the bank, and shall employ accountants, authorized by law to examine savings banks, to audit the books, records and accounts, and may do so without previous notice to the directors or officers and with such frequency and at such times as they deem necessary or expedient. At the annual meeting of the shareholders the committee shall submit its report, including the results of audits made during the year, and such recommendations as it may desire to make. At any time it may, by a majority vote, call a meeting of the shareholders to consider any violation of this act or of the by-laws, or any matter relating to the affairs of the bank which, in the opinion of said committee, requires action on the part of the shareholders. The committee, unless otherwise provided in the by-laws, shall prescribe the method of keeping the mortgage register, of holding and preserving the mortgages and other securities, of crediting payments on mortgages, of cancelling mortgages, and of releasing the liens of mortgages. The committee shall also ascertain that all mortgages, deeds, assignments and other evidences of title to real estate have been duly recorded according to law, and, in the event of failure on the part of the proper officers to record any such instrument, the auditing committee shall certify such fact upon the records of the bank, and such officers shall be liable in damages to the bank for any loss sustained by reason of the failure to record such instrument. The auditing committee shall fill vacancies in its own membership until the next annual meeting of the shareholders.

Meetings.

SECTION 11. The annual meeting of the corporation shall be held at such time and place as the by-laws shall prescribe, but it must be held within thirty days after the close of the fiscal year. Special meetings of the shareholders may be called by the president, or by a majority of the directors or of the auditing committee, and shall be called by the clerk upon written application of three or more shareholders who hold at least one tenth part in interest of the capital stock, stating the time, place and purpose of the meeting. Meetings of the board of directors shall be held at least quarterly. Notice of all meetings of the shareholders and of the board of directors and of committees shall be given in the manner prescribed in the by-laws, but at least seven days' notice shall be given of all meetings of the shareholders, which notice shall state the purposes for which the meeting is called. Meetings of the shareholders may be held without notice if all the shareholders waive notice in writing and such waiver is filed with the records of the meeting. Meetings of the board of directors may be held without notice if all members thereof waive notice in writing and such waiver is filed with the records of the meeting. Meetings of committees may be held without notice if all members thereof waive notice in writing. All meetings of the shareholders and of the board of directors shall be held within the commonwealth. If, by reason of the death or absence of the officers of a corporation or other cause, there is no person duly authorized to call or preside at a legal meeting, or if the clerk or other officer refuses or neglects to call it, a justice of the peace may, upon written application of three or more of the shareholders, issue a warrant to any one of them, directing him to call a meeting by giving such notice as is required by law, and may, by the same warrant, direct him to preside at the meeting until a clerk is duly chosen and qualified, if no officer of the corporation is present who is legally authorized to preside.

Quorum and Proxies.

SECTION 12. Unless the by-laws otherwise provide, a majority in interest of all shares issued and outstanding shall constitute a quorum at a meeting of the corporation, and a majority of the members shall constitute a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or of any committee. No corporation shall, directly or indirectly, vote upon any share of its own stock. Shareholders shall have one vote for each share of stock owned by them. Executors, administrators, guardians, trustees or persons in any other representative or fiduciary capacity may vote as shareholders upon shares held in such capacity. Shares owned by any corporation may be voted by any duly authorized officer or agent thereof. Shareholders may vote either in person or by proxy. No proxy which is dated more than six months prior to the meeting named therein shall be valid, and no proxy shall be valid after the final adjournment of the meeting for which it was issued.

Land Reserve Fund.

SECTION 13. The capital stock of a farmland bank shall not be less than fifty thousand dollars nor more than five hundred thousand dollars and shall be held by the bank as a separate fund, to be known as the Land Reserve Fund.

The par value of shares in the Land Reserve Fund shall be five dollars or any multiple thereof not exceeding one hundred dollars.

No person shall directly or indirectly hold or own more than ten per cent of the shares in a farmland bank exclusive of any shares which he may hold as collateral security.

Any bank, at a meeting duly called for the purpose, by vote of the majority of its shares outstanding, may amend its articles of incorporation to authorize an increase or a reduction in the amount of its capital stock, and in the case of an increase may determine the terms and the manner of the disposition of such additional stock, but in no event shall the capital stock be increased to an amount exceeding five hundred thousand dollars, nor reduced to an amount less than fifty thousand dollars. If an increase in the total amount of the capital stock shall have been authorized by vote of the shareholders in accordance with the provisions hereof, the articles of amendment shall also set forth the total amount of capital stock previously authorized and a statement that the increased amount of capital stock has all been paid in in cash, and the bank commissioner shall in no case approve a certificate showing an increase of capital stock until he is satisfied that such payment in full has been made to the bank. If a reduction of the capital stock shall have been authorized by the shareholders in accordance with the provisions hereof, the articles of amendment shall also set forth the total amount of capital stock previously authorized, the amount of the reduction and the manner in which it shall be effected, and a copy of the vote authorizing the reduction. No reduction of capital stock shall be lawful which renders the bank bankrupt or insolvent, but the capital stock may be reduced, if the assets of the bank are not reduced thereby, by the surrender by every shareholder of his shares and the issue to him in lieu thereof of a proportional decreased number of shares and such reduction shall not create any liability of the shareholders of such bank in case of the subsequent bankruptcy of such bank.

Who may be Shareholders.

SECTION 14. Any person, firm, association, society, or organization, and any co-operative bank, credit union, trust company, or other corporation may purchase and hold shares in any farmland bank, subject to the provisions of any laws expressly prohibiting or restricting investment therein by any such corporation, association, society or organization.

Land Reserve Certificates.

SECTION 15. Every shareholder shall be entitled to a land reserve certificate in a form approved by the commissioner, which shall be signed by the president and by the treasurer of the corporation, shall be sealed with its seal, and shall certify that the holder is the owner of the number of shares represented by the certificate. Land reserve certificates may be transferred upon the books of the corporation in accordance with the laws relating to the transfer of stock in general business corporations. The directors of a farmland bank may, unless otherwise provided by the by-laws, determine the conditions upon which a new certificate may be issued in place of any certificate which is alleged to have been lost or destroyed.

Bonds.

SECTION 16. Farmland bonds in a form approved by the commissioner may be issued by a bank by vote of its board of directors whenever the bank holds as mortgagee farm land mortgages of a term longer than five years in amount sufficient to secure such issue. Each issue of bonds shall constitute a separate series and shall be so designated, the first series being designated as "Series One of Farmland Bonds of the Farmland Bank," and subsequent series accordingly. No series shall be issued for less than an aggregate sum of ten thousand dollars nor for more than ninety-five per cent of the amount of the mortgages against which it is issued. Bonds may be issued in denominations of fifty dollars or any multiple thereof, but no bond shall be for a larger amount than one thousand dollars. Bonds may bear such rate of interest as may be determined by the directors, but not exceeding five per cent per annum. They shall be payable on a date specified and shall be subject to call by the bank at two per cent above par with accrued interest at any interest period after the date of issue, or after a date specified in the bond, after such notice and advertisement as may be provided in the by-laws, or, if no provision is made in the by-laws, as shall be approved by the commissioner. Mortgages pledged as collateral security for bonds of any series shall be kept at all times in the possession and under the control of the bank, or, upon direction of the commissioner, shall be deposited with a trustee who shall be appointed by the bank with the approval of the commissioner, and shall hold the mortgage notes and mortgages for the bond holders. As the amortization payments are received and credited upon the mortgage notes so deposited as security, the bonds issued by the bank and secured thereby shall be called and paid, or purchased in the open market and retired, to the extent of the payments received, and credited upon the mortgage notes held as security therefor, under rules and regulations adopted by the bank with the approval of the commissioner, or the payments so received may be deposited by the bank, or, if a trustee has been appointed, shall be paid over to the trustee, to be deposited at interest as an amortization fund to meet the payment of the notes at maturity. Only mortgages for a period longer than five years shall be pledged as collateral for farmland bonds. Bonds issued by any bank in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be a legal investment (1) for any savings bank or trust company to an amount not exceeding one fifth of the deposits of such savings bank or trust company; (2) for trust funds and estates and for funds and estates under the jurisdiction of or administered by any of the courts of the commonwealth; (3) for insurance companies as defined and prescribed by section thirty-seven of chapter five hundred and seventy-six of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and seven, and any amendment thereof; (4) for surplus funds of co-operative banks in addition to the investments authorized by section eleven of chapter one hundred and fourteen of the Revised Laws; (5) for the sinking funds of the commonwealth or of any county or city or town thereof.

Investments.

SECTION 17. The land reserve fund, and the surplus fund to the amount of one fourth of the land reserve fund, shall be invested only in (1) first mortgages upon farm lands, which shall have the approval of the committee on loans or the board of directors as herein provided; (2) bonds and notes which are at the time of their purchase legal investments for savings banks in this commonwealth; (3) investments, other than real estate and mortgages upon real estate, which shall be approved by the commissioner: provided, that the surplus fund, when other funds of the bank are not sufficient, may be expended in meeting the accruing obligations and necessary current expenses of conducting the business of the bank. Any uninvested portion of the land reserve fund or the surplus fund may be deposited, pending investment, in any national bank or trust company in the commonwealth.

Holdings of Real Estate.

SECTION 18. A farmland bank may purchase and hold real estate only as provided in this section:

First. — It may own the building in which its offices are located, and may lease such portion of the building as may not be required for the business of the bank: provided, that no part of the land reserve fund or the surplus fund required by the provisions of this act shall be invested in the purchase of such building.

Second. — It may hold real estate acquired by the foreclosure of mortgages owned by it, or by purchase at sales made under the provisions of such mortgages, or upon judgments for debts due to it, or in settlements effected to secure such debts, but all such real estate shall be sold by the bank within five years after the title thereof is vested in it, unless the commissioner upon petition of the committee on loans of such bank for cause shall grant additional time for the sale of such real estate.

Loans.

SECTION 19. Loans shall be made only upon security of first mortgages upon farm lands. The rate of interest upon loans shall in no event be more than six per cent, but an additional charge to the borrower may be made, to be applied to the cost of administering the affairs of the bank, which charge in no case shall exceed one per cent of the amount unpaid on the loan and shall be paid in annual, semi-annual, or quarterly payments at the same time that the interest is paid. The rate of interest upon loans for a period longer than five years shall not exceed the rate of interest upon the bonds secured thereby by more than one per cent annually upon the amount unpaid on the loan.

Upon loans for a period longer than five years amortization payments shall be made in such amounts as shall be stated in the mortgage note and mortgage, which amounts shall be sufficient to pay the principal in full at maturity and shall be payable in equal annual, semi-annual, or quarterly payments at the same time that the interest is paid. A borrower may pay the amount of his mortgage loan or any part thereof on any interest day by surrendering at par and accrued interest bonds of the series for which his mortgage is pledged as security.

Fines may be imposed upon borrowers for failure to pay interest or amortization payments promptly, but such fines shall not exceed one half of one per cent per month upon the unpaid part of the loan for the time that the default continues. In no event shall fines for more than six months upon any one default be collected.

Dividends and Surplus.

SECTION 20. The directors may from time to time declare dividends to be paid out of the profits of the bank, but no dividend shall be declared unless the combined amount of the land reserve and surplus funds is equal to five per cent of the par value of the bonds outstanding at the time the dividend is declared. No dividend shall be declared exceeding six per cent per annum upon the par value of the land reserve certificates outstanding, except as is hereinafter provided. Net earnings in excess of the dividend declared shall annually be carried to surplus until the surplus fund shall equal twenty-five per cent of the land reserve fund. Dividends shall be cumulative only after the surplus fund shall have been established and maintained equal to twenty-five per cent of the land reserve fund. Any profit not required to maintain the land reserve and surplus funds, and to pay cumulative dividends not exceeding six per cent per annum, may be carried in amount not exceeding fifty per cent to surplus until the surplus fund shall equal the land reserve fund, and any amount not carried to surplus shall be annually divided in equal shares of which one half shall be placed to the credit of the borrowers in amounts in proportion to their loans unpaid at the time of such distribution, and the remaining half shall be paid as an extra dividend upon the outstanding land reserve certificates.

Exemption from Taxation.

SECTION 21. All property of a bank incorporated under the provisions of this act, except real estate, and all land reserve certificates and farmland bonds issued by the bank, shall be exempt from state and local taxation, except legacy and succession taxes.

Articles of Amendment.

SECTION 22. No amendment for alteration of the agreement of association or articles of organization shall take effect until said articles of amendment, signed and sworn to by the president, treasurer and a majority of the directors, shall have been approved by the commissioner and filed in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth. The fee for filing and recording such articles of amendment shall be five dollars.

Dissolution.

SECTION 23. A farmland bank may be dissolved by vote of its shareholders, representing two thirds in amount of the shares issued and outstanding, at any meeting called for the purpose after due notice to all shareholders in accordance with the provisions of the by-laws. The bank shall be dissolved in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the bank commissioner. In case of dissolution, after all obligations of the bank have been paid, or due provision made for their payment at maturity, the remaining assets of the bank available for distribution shall be distributed between the borrowers and shareholders in the manner hereinbefore provided for the distribution of surplus earnings of the corporation between the borrowers and shareholders. In the event that the original borrower has sold the mortgaged premises and the purchaser has assumed and agreed to pay the mortgage, the purchaser, by assuming the mortgage, shall succeed to all rights of the borrower and shall be entitled to receive any share of the borrower in any distribution of surplus, and in any distribution of assets of the corporation in dissolution.

3. CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATIONS.

ACTS OF 1913, CHAPTER 447.

Co-operative Associations.

SECTION 1. Seven or more persons, residents of the commonwealth, may associate themselves as a corporation, association, society, company or exchange, for the purpose of conducting within the commonwealth any agricultural, dairy or mercantile business on the co-operative plan. The word "co-operative" shall form a part of the name of the corporation, and, for the purposes of this act, the words "association", "company", "exchange", "society", and "union", shall have the same signification and shall import a corporation.

Incorporation.

SECTION 2. The corporation shall be formed in the manner prescribed in, and be subject to, the provisions of chapter four hundred and thirty-seven of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and three, and all acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

Capital Stock.

SECTION 3 (as superseded by 1915, 118, § 1). The capital stock of such a co-operative corporation shall not be less than one hundred dollars, nor more than one hundred thousand dollars. No stockholder shall own shares of a greater par value than one tenth of the total par value of the capital stock, nor shall any member be entitled to more than one vote on any subject arising in the management of the corporation.

Investment of Reserve Fund.

SECTION 4. At any regular meeting, or at any duly called special meeting, at which a majority of all its stockholders shall be present, a corporation organized under this act may authorize the investment of its reserve fund or any part thereof, first, in the building in which it is doing business, or, second, in a first mortgage of real estate owned and occupied as a dwelling by any of its stockholders.

Apportionment of Earnings.

SECTION 5. The directors of every such corporation shall apportion the earnings of the corporation in the following manner:

1. They shall set aside annually not less than ten per cent of the net profits of the corporation for a reserve fund until there is accumulated in said reserve fund an amount not less than thirty per cent of the paid-up capital stock.

2. They shall declare and pay dividends on the paid-up capital stock not exceeding five per cent per annum.

Distribution of Earnings.

SECTION 6 (as amended by 1915, 118, § 3). 1. From the balance of the net earnings of the corporation the directors may appropriate a sum not exceeding five per cent of the annual net earnings to be used in teaching co-operation.

2. The directors shall distribute the remainder of such earnings or any part thereof by a uniform dividend upon the amount of purchases or sales of shareholders, through the corporation, and, if the directors so vote, upon the amount of wages which have been earned and paid to employees except that in the case of a purchaser who is not a shareholder, but who desires to become a shareholder, a dividend of one half the uniform dividend may be declared upon such non-shareholder's purchases or sales and credited to him on account of the purchase of stock for which he may subscribe. In productive corporations, including creameries, canneries, storages, factories and the like, dividends shall be calculated on raw material delivered to the corporation instead of on goods purchased. If the corporation be both a purchasing and a selling or a productive concern, the dividends may be on both raw material and on goods purchased. The profits or net earnings of such corporation shall be distributed to those entitled thereto at such times as the by-laws prescribe, which shall be as often as once in twelve months.

Certificate of Organization to be approved and filed.

SECTION 7. Any co-operative association now organized by law in this commonwealth for any of the purposes mentioned in this act, and qualified so to do, may by a majority vote of the stockholders at a meeting called for the purpose vote to accept the provisions of this act, and shall thereupon present to the commissioner of corporations a certificate, signed and sworn to by its secretary, setting forth a copy of said vote, the date of the meeting at which the vote was passed, and such further evidence as the commissioner may require of its legal existence and of its intention to accept the provisions of this act. The commissioner shall examine the certificate and evidence of organization, and, if it appears that the provisions of law have been complied with, shall so certify, and shall approve the certificate by his endorsement thereon, and thereupon such corporation shall have the powers and privileges and be subject to the duties and liabilities of corporations formed under this act. Upon the payment of a fee of one dollar said certificate shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth, who shall cause it and the endorsement thereon to be recorded.

Taking Effect.

SECTION 8. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Use of the Word "Co-operative" restricted.

SECTION 9 (added by G. A., 1915, 118, § 2). No person, partnership, association or corporation, organized or doing business for profit, except corporations formed under the provisions of this act, or co-operative banks organized under chapter one hundred and fourteen of the Revised Laws, shall hereafter transact business under any name or title, which contains the word "co-operative". The provisions of section seventeen of chapter five hundred and ninety of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight shall apply to violations of this section, and as prescribed therein, proceedings shall be brought against any person, partnership, association or corporation which violates the provisions of this section. Any person, partnership, association or corporation not organized under the provisions of this act, transacting business under a name or title which contains the word "co-operative", shall alter the said name or title to comply with the provisions of this act within ninety days after its passage.

Fee for Filing.

SECTION 10 (added by G. A., 1915, 118, § 2). The fee for filing and recording the articles of organization required by chapter four hundred and forty-seven of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, including the issuing by the secretary of the commonwealth of the certificate of incorporation, shall be one twentieth of one per cent of the total amount of the authorized capital stock as fixed by the articles of organization, but not in any case less than five dollars.

ACTS OF 1914, CHAPTER 707.

Corporations organized to promote Agriculture may receive County Aid.

SECTION 1. Any corporation organized under the laws of this commonwealth, not organized for profit and no part of the net income of which shall inure for the benefit of stockholders, having for its corporate purpose the improvement of agriculture and country life, which shall be approved by the Massachusetts Agricultural College and by the county commissioners of the county in which it is located, shall be eligible to receive the county aid herein authorized, but only one such corporation in each county shall be approved for this purpose.

Every corporation approved under the provisions of section one shall appoint and maintain one or more advisers in agriculture and country life, who shall be appointed by the advisory board established by section four hereof, and who shall hold office until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SECTION 3. It shall be the duty of the said advisers to advise and consult with individuals and organizations in reference to farming methods, to assist in the development and improvement of agriculture and of country life, to give instruction in the formation of co-operative enterprises, to promote better business methods among farmers, to assist in promoting more satisfactory methods of marketing farm products, and to perform any other work adapted to promote the agricultural or rural development of that country. It shall be the duty of the advisers to keep in touch with, and to bring to their assistance, all agencies in the commonwealth or elsewhere that will enable them to utilize the latest and best knowledge in the furtherance of their work. The duties of the advisers shall be performed under the supervision and direction of said advisory board, and they shall be subject to such rules and regulations as said board may prescribe.

Establishment of Advisory Boards.

SECTION 4. In every county in which a corporation such as that described in section one is organized, there shall be established an advisory board of seven members, consisting of three members to be appointed by the corporation, three by the county commissioners of said county, and one by the six thus chosen. ACTS OF 1913, CHAPTER 759.

RECLAMATION OF WET LAND.

Commonwealth may acquire Land for Purpose of Reclamation.

SECTION 1. The state board of agriculture and the state board of health, acting as a joint board, are hereby authorized with the approval of the governor and council, to purchase or take by right of eminent domain in the name of the commonwealth for the purposes of this act, any tract or tracts of wet land, except salt marshes, together with such dry lands, if any, as may be necessary for access thereto. In carrying out the provisions of this act the said joint board may, in its discretion, determine that any of the powers and duties hereby conferred or imposed shall be exercised and performed by either one of the two boards composing the joint board.

Damages.

SECTION 2. The said joint board shall estimate and determine, as soon as may be, all damages sustained by any person or corporation by the taking of land, or any right therein, under authority of this act, and the same shall be paid from the fund hereinafter provided; but any one aggrieved by such determination may have his damages assessed by a jury of the superior court in the manner provided by law with respect to damages sustained by reason of the laying out of ways. If, upon trial, damages are increased beyond the award of the board, the aggrieved party shall recover costs; otherwise such party shall pay costs; and costs shall be taxed as in civil cases. No suit for such damages shall be brought after the expiration of two years from the date of the recording of the taking, as required by the following section.

Description of Land taken to be recorded.

SECTION 3. Within sixty days after any land, or right therein, is taken under this act, the said joint board shall file and cause to be recorded in the proper registry of deeds a description thereof sufficiently accurate for its identification, with a statement of the purpose for which the same is taken, signed by a majority of the said joint board; and upon such filing title to the land or rights so taken shall vest in the commonwealth.

Labor of Prisoners may be employed.

SECTION 4. The said joint board, acting through such agent or agents as it may appoint, shall drain and reclaim lands acquired under this act, and for this purpose may purchase machinery and other necessary equipment, and may execute such contracts as the governor and council shall approve. So far as is practicable, the labor of prisoners shall be employed in reclaiming the said lands, under such regulations and conditions as may be prescribed by the prison commissioners; and it is hereby made the duty of the prison commissioners to furnish such labor, upon request of the said joint board, whenever it is practicable for them to do so. The cost of transportation of prisoners to and from the place of labor and the cost of providing them with necessary meals while so employed shall be paid from the fund herein provided for.

Cultivation of Reclaimed Land.

SECTION 5 (as amended by 1914, 596, § 2). When said lands, or any convenient part thereof, shall have been drained and reclaimed, the said joint board shall cause the same to be cultivated for not less than two successive seasons, in such manner as in the opinion of the board will best demonstrate the value thereof for agricultural uses. The products of cultivation, except hay sold in the bale, shall not be sold in open market, but shall be used for the supply of public institutions, and such institutions shall pay to the joint board such sums for the said products as they would pay if the same were purchased in open market, and the sums so received shall be added to the sum herein provided for.

Wet Lands Reclamation Fund.

SECTION 6. The said joint board shall thereafter, at such time or times as it shall deem expedient, offer such lands for sale, in whole or in part, at a price not less than the cost of the land plus the cost of reclaiming the same. Any sums received from such sales shall be paid into the treasury of the commonwealth and credited to the ordinary revenue until the total amount expended under the provisions of this act has been refunded, after which the proceeds shall be credited to a fund to be known as the Wet Lands Reclamation Fund and shall be used for the reclamation of other tracts in the manner herein provided.

Expenditures.

SECTION 7. In carrying out the provisions of this act, the said joint board may expend a sum not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars from the treasury of the commonwealth. This sum shall be in addition to any amounts received from the sale of products as aforesaid.

ACTS OF 1914, CHAPTER 596.

Purchase of Wet Lands for Reclamation.

SECTION 1. The joint board established by chapter seven hundred and fifty-nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and thirteen may, in its discretion, in order further to carry out the purposes of said chapter, purchase any wet lands at a price not exceeding the assessed valuation thereof, and may accept on behalf of the commonwealth gifts of land to be drained and reclaimed as therein provided. The sellers or donors of such lands may reserve the right to buy back the land at any time within two years upon paying the price originally paid by the commonwealth, together with the amount expended in improvements and maintenance, and interest at the rate of four per cent per annum, but in the absence of a provision to that effect in the deed of purchase or gift the former owner shall not have such right, and the lands so acquired shall be offered for sale, in whole or in part, by the said joint board, at such time or times as it shall deem expedient, at a price not less than the cost of the land plus the cost of reclaiming the same, and interest at the rate of four per cent per annum.

Expenditure authorized.

SECTION 3. In carrying out the provisions of this act, and of said chapter seven hundred and fifty-nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, the joint board may expend a sum not exceeding ten thousand dollars, from the treasury of the commonwealth, in addition to the sums authorized by section seven of said chapter.

The standard box for apples shall be of the following dimensions by inside measurement: eighteen inches by eleven and one half inches by ten and one half inches, without distention of its parts, and having a capacity of not less than two thousand one hundred seventy-three and one half cubic inches.

Grades defined.

SECTION 2 (as amended by G. A., 1916, 63, § 1). The standard grades of apples when packed or repacked in closed packages within this commonwealth shall be as follows:— “Massachusetts Standard Fancy” shall include only apples of one variety which are well matured specimens, hand-picked, above medium color for the variety, normal shape, of good and reasonably uniform size, sound, free from disease, insect and fungus injury, bruises and any other defects except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing, and shall be packed properly in clean, strong packages: provided, that apples of one variety which are not more than three per cent below the foregoing specifications may be graded as “Massachusetts Standard Fancy.”

“Massachusetts Standard A” shall include only apples of one variety which are well matured specimens, properly packed, of medium color for the variety, normal shape, sound, practically free from disease, insect and fungus injury, bruises and other defects except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing: provided, that apples of one variety which are not more than five per cent below the foregoing specifications may be graded as "Massachusetts Standard A."

"Massachusetts Standard B" shall include only apples of one variety, which are well matured, properly packed, practically normal shape, practically free from disease, insect and fungus injury or any other defect that materially injures the appearance or useful quality of the apples, and which may be less than medium color for the variety: provided, that apples of one variety which are not more than ten per cent below the foregoing specifications may be graded as "Massachusetts Standard B."

"Ungraded." Apples not conforming to the foregoing specifications of grade, or, if conforming, not branded in accordance therewith, shall be classed as ungraded and so branded.

Use of Other Marks permitted.

SECTION 3 (as amended by G. A., 1916, 63, § 2). The marks indicating the grade, as above prescribed, may be accompanied by any other designation of grade or brand if such designation is not inconsistent with, or marked more conspicuously on the package than, the mark or marks required by section five of this act.

Minimum Size to be marked on Package.

SECTION 4. The minimum size of the fruit in all grades, including the ungraded, shall be marked upon the package, and shall be determined by taking the transverse diameter of the smallest fruit in the package at right angles to the stem and blossom end. Minimum sizes shall be stated in variations of one quarter of an inch, such as two inches, two and one quarter inches, two and one half inches, two and three quarters inches, three inches, three and one quarter inches, and so forth, in accordance with the facts. Minimum sizes may be designated by figures instead of words. The word "minimum" may be designated by using the abbreviation "min."

Closed Packages to be Branded.

SECTION 5. Every closed package of apples packed or re-packed in the commonwealth and intended for sale, either within or without the commonwealth, shall have marked in a conspicuous place on the outside of the package in plain letters a state-

If the true name of the variety is not known to the packer or other person by whose authority the apples are packed, the statement shall include the words "variety unknown", and if the name of the state in which the apples were grown is not known, this fact shall also be set forth in the statement. If apples are repacked, the package shall be marked "repacked", and shall bear the name and address of the repacker, or the name and address of the person by whose authority it is repacked, in place of that of the original packer.

Style and Size of Letters and Figures fixed.

SECTION 6. The branding or marking of barrels under the provisions of this act shall be in block letters and figures of a size not less than thirty-six point Gothic. The secretary of the state board of agriculture shall prescribe rules and regulations as to the lettering to be used in branding or marking other closed packages.

Packing, Sale or Distribution of Adulterated or Misbranded Apples prohibited.

SECTION 7. It shall be unlawful for any person to pack, sell, distribute or offer or expose for sale or distribution, apples which are adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act.

"Adulterated" defined.

SECTION 8 (as amended by G. A., 1916, 63, § 3). For the purposes of this act, apples packed in a closed package shall be deemed to be adulterated if their measure, quality or grade does not conform in every particular to the brand or mark upon or affixed to the package, or if the faced or shown surface gives a false representation of the contents of the package.

"Misbranded" defined.

SECTION 9. For the purposes of this act, apples packed in a closed package shall be deemed to be misbranded: —

First. If the package is packed or repacked in the commonwealth and fails to bear all statements required by sections two, three, four and five and in accordance with the provisions of section six of this act.

Second. If the package, whether packed or repacked within or without the commonwealth is falsely branded, or bears any statement, design or device, regarding the apples contained therein, which is false or misleading, or if the package bears any statement, design or device indicating that the apples contained therein are of a specified Massachusetts standard grade, and said apples, when packed or repacked, do not conform to the requirements prescribed by this act for such grade.

Cold-storage Apples to be inspected.

SECTION 10 (as amended by G. A., 1916, 63, § 4). Apples which have been in cold storage shall not be sold or distributed, or offered or exposed for sale or distribution, in closed packages until they have been inspected in accordance with rules and regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the state board of agriculture.

Rules and Regulations to be made.

SECTION 11. The secretary of the state board of agriculture shall make rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of this act, and he shall publish, on or before the first day of September following the passage of this act, and after a public hearing, rules for the grading and packing of apples and specifying, for each variety of apples, the minimum size which shall be included in the grade designated as "fancy"; and he may thereafter modify such rules and regulations.

Inspectors authorized to enter Places and open Packages.

SECTION 12. The secretary of the state board of agriculture, in person or by deputy, shall have free access at all reasonable hours to any building or other place where apples are packed, stored, sold, or offered or exposed for sale. He shall also have power in person or by deputy to open any box, barrel, or other container, and may, upon tendering the market price, take samples therefrom.

Appropriation provided.

SECTION 13. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act there may be expended during the present fiscal year a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and thereafter such annual expenses as may be necessary shall be paid from the annual appropriation for disseminating useful information.

Penalty fixed.

SECTION 14. Any person who adulterates or misbrands apples within the meaning of this act, or who packs, repacks, sells, distributes, or offers or exposes for sale or distribution, apples in violation of any provision of this act, or who wilfully alters, effaces or removes, or causes to be altered, effaced or removed, wholly or partly, any brands or marks required to be put upon any closed package under the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for the first offence, and by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for each subsequent offence.

Certain Persons exempted and Liability placed.

SECTION 15. No person who sells or distributes or offers or exposes for sale or distribution apples adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act shall be deemed to have violated any of the provisions of this act, if it shall appear that he acted in good faith solely as a distributor, or if he shall furnish a guaranty signed by the person from whom he received the apples, with the address of such person, that the apples are not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act. In such case, the person from whom the distributor received the apples shall be liable for the acts of the distributor who relied upon his guaranty, to the same extent as the distributor would have been liable under the provisions of this act.

" Person " and " Closed Package " defined.

SECTION 16. The word "person", as used in this act shall include persons, firms, corporations, societies and associations, and the acts of agents and employees shall be construed to be the acts of their principals and employers as well as of the agents and employees. The words "closed package" shall mean a barrel, box or other container the contents of which cannot be sufficiently seen for purposes of inspection without opening the container.

The act took effect upon its passage, except that the provisions of sections one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen were not operative until the first day of July, in the year nineteen hundred and sixteen.

3. That the employee had assumed the risk of the injury.

Law not to apply in Certain Cases.

SECTION 2. The provisions of section one shall not apply to actions to recover damages for personal injuries sustained by domestic servants and farm laborers (see pages 163, 164, 165).

VII. OPINIONS OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

1. AGRICULTURAL AND HORTICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

Election of Delegate to Board of Agriculture.

[1 OPINIONS ATTORNEY-GENERAL, 406.]

At a meeting of the Hampden Agricultural Society, at which proceedings were held for the election of a member of the State Board of Agriculture, the balloting resulted as follows: the whole number of votes cast was 46, of which B had 41, F 4 and P 1. Of the votes cast for B, 39 were cast by proxy.

There being no provision in the charter or by-laws of the society regulating the mode of voting by proxy, or conferring the right so to vote, no member had such right; and since no quorum voted, the votes cast by proxy being thrown out, no person was duly elected by said society as a member of the State Board of Agriculture.

Right to Representation on Board of Agriculture.

[1 OPINIONS ATTORNEY-GENERAL, 90.]

The right of an agricultural society to representation in the Board of Agriculture in any year depends on its title to receive a bounty that year.

A society's title to bounty and to representation is to be determined by its returns between January 10 and the first Wednesday of February each year.

A society is not entitled to a bounty in any year unless it has awarded and paid premiums to the same amount during the preceding year.

The application of a bounty to the general encouragement or improvement of agriculture or manufacture does not by itself entitle a society to a bounty or to representation in the Board.

The requirement of $1,000 invested capital in order to be entitled to a bounty applies to all societies, and means an actually existing invested capital.

The title of a society to representation in the Board accrues year by year, and the membership of a representative of a society terminates when his society ceases to be entitled to representation, though within three years from the time when he took his seat, subject to reinstatement when the society again acquires the right to representation.

VIII. DIGEST OF SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

1. DRAINAGE OF WET LANDS.

Constitutionality of Drainage Law.

TALBOT v. HUDSON.

16 Gray, 417.

[EXTRACT FROM DECISION AT PAGE 428.]

Nor are we without precedent for acts of legislation by which private property has been taken for the purpose of improving land and rendering it fertile and productive. The St. of 1795, c. 62 (R. L., c. 195), for the improvement of meadows, swamps and low lands, recognizes the right of taking private property for the purpose of redeeming lands from the effects of stagnant water and of being overflowed by obstructions in brooks and rivers. This statute, re-enacted by the Rev. Sts., c. 115 (R. L., c. 195), has been long in use, and many proceedings under it have taken place, some of which have passed under the judicial cognizance of this court. But in none has the validity of the statute been doubted or denied.

TURNER v. NYE.

154 Mass. 579.

[EXTRACT FROM DECISION AT PAGES 581 AND 582.]

MORTON, J. “. . . we think the plaintiffs misapprehend the constitutional provision which applies to the act in question. The statute was not an exercise on the part of the Legislature of the right of eminent domain, but was enacted under the provision which gives it power ‘to make, ordain, and establish, all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, and ordinances, . . . so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they shall judge to be for the good and welfare of this commonwealth, and for the government and ordering thereof, and of the subjects of the same.’ Const. Mass., Part 2, c. 1, Art. 4. . . Upon this provision also stand the cranberry act, so called (St. 1866, c. 206); the act in regard to draining meadows, swamps, marshes, beaches and low lands, with its authority to commissioners to open the floodgates of a mill, or to erect a temporary dam on the lands of another person and assess the damages upon the proprietors (Pub. Sts., c. 189; see Wurts v. Hoagland, 114 U. T. 606).

“. . . The mill acts, and these and other like statutes (of which various illustrations might be given), rest upon the principle that property may be so situated or of such a character that the absolute right of the individual owner to a certain extent must yield to or be modified by corresponding rights on the part of other owners, or by what is deemed on the whole to be for the public welfare.”¹

Powers of Drainage Commissioners.

DAY v. HURLBURT.

11 Met. 321.

Under the Rev. Sts., c. 115 (R. L., c. 195), commissioners who are appointed to effect improvements in meadows or low lands have no authority to assess damages in favor of any one who is not a party to the proceedings instituted for such improvements, besides those who are mentioned in section 14 of that chapter. Hence when the owners of certain meadows petition the court of common pleas for proceedings to improve the same, and commissioners are appointed who cause a drain to be made whereby water is thrown upon the adjoining meadows of other owners to their injury, those owners have no remedy, under the provisions of that chapter, for the injury so sustained.

Powers of County Commissioners in Relation to Drainage.

SHERMAN v. TOBEY.

3 Allen, 7.

Under Gen. Sts., c. 148 (R. L., c. 195), county commissioners have no power to authorize an owner of marshy or wet land to dig a ditch into his neighbor's land and discharge the water upon the same to his injury, but only to authorize him to dig a ditch across the same, or to some outlet where the water may be discharged without injury.

Return of Commissioners under Drainage Act.

WRIGHT v. LEONARD.

4 Gray, 150.

A deed of low lands sold for nonpayment of the costs of improvement assessed thereon by commissioners appointed by the court of common pleas, pursuant to Rev. Sts., c. 115 (R. L., c.

¹ See also Proprietors of Mills on Charles River v. Proprietors of Mills on Mill Creek and Neponset Rivers, 7 Pick. 207.

195), passes no title, unless the return of the commissioners to the court shows the appointment of the collector by whom the deed was made.

2. DOG DAMAGES.

Liability for Injuries by Dog. Constitutionality of Dog Law.

JOHNSON v. GRISWOLD.

179 Mass. 580.

In St. 1889, c. 454 (R. L., c. 102, § 151 ff.), giving damages for sheep killed or injured by dogs, section 1 provides that when the damages are appraised the county treasurer shall submit the certificate of damages to the county commissioners, who within thirty days shall examine the bill for damages and make such investigation as they think proper, and issue an order upon the county treasurer for all or any part of the damage. Held, that the requirement in regard to the time of the examination is for the benefit of persons claiming damages, and, in the absence of a request by an interested party for an early examination, is only directory, and the failure of the commissioners to act within thirty days does not render their subsequent action in favor of an injured party invalid.

Under St. 1889, c. 454 (R. L., c. 102, § 151 ff.), giving damages for sheep killed or injured by dogs, the return under section 1 of a certificate of damages which contains a slight inaccuracy as to the ownership of the sheep but complies with the essential requirement of an oath as a preliminary to the appraisal, and which contains enough to identify the proceedings and justify the introduction of oral testimony to correct the error as to the title, does not leave the case as if there were no certificate, but satisfies the statutory requirement that a certificate shall be returned.

St. 1889, c. 454 (R. L., c. 102, § 151 ff.), and St. 1894, c. 309 (R. L., c. 102, § 155), giving damages for sheep killed or injured by dogs, are constitutional.

Dog Damage done to Sheep. Liability of Owner to County. Measure of Damages.

WORCESTER v. ASHWORTH.

160 Mass. 186.

The owner of a dog engaged with other dogs in doing damage to sheep is liable to the county, under Pub. Sts., c. 102, § 106 (R. L., c. 102, § 162), for all the damages so done, and not alone for that part done by his own dog; and it makes no difference that one of such dogs belonged to the owner of the sheep.

In an action by a county, under Pub. Sts., c. 102, § 106 (R. L., c. 102, § 162), as qualified by St. 1889, c. 454, to recover of the owner of a dog for the damages done by the dog to the sheep, the assessment of damages by the county commissioners is not conclusive, but the defendant is entitled to show that the amount awarded by them is excessive.

Right to Reimbursement for Injury by Dogs.

OSBORN v. SELECTMEN OF LENOX.

2 Allen, 207.

Under Gen. Sts., c. 88, § 64 (R. L., c. 102, § 151), one who suffers loss by reason of the worrying, maiming or killing of his horse by dogs is, upon proof thereof, entitled to an order from the selectmen of the town wherein the damage is done, upon the treasurer of the town, for the amount of his loss, to be paid from the fund created by taxes on dogs according to the provisions of that statute; and if the selectmen refuse to draw such order, upon proof of the facts, a writ of mandamus will be granted ordering them to do so.

Right to kill Dog doing Damage.

NESBETT v. WILBUR.

177 Mass. 200.

In an action for killing a dog which was engaged in killing the defendant's hens on the defendant's premises, the judge having found that the defendant rightly believed that there was no other way to save them than to kill the dog, and that he was justified in so doing; a request for a ruling that Pub. Sts., c. 102, § 94 (R. L., c. 102, § 147), giving a right to any person to kill a dog found out of the enclosure or immediate care of its owner, worrying neat cattle, sheep, or lambs, takes away the rights of the defendant at common law, and that not having complied with the statute the defendant is liable, is rightly refused.

Liability of Owner or Keeper for Damages by Dog.HATHAWAY v. TINKHAM.148 Mass. 85.*

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

The owner or keeper of a dog is liable, under the Pub. Sts., c. 102, § 93 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), for an injury done by it to a person in the exercise of due care, although such injury was done in play, and without any vicious intent on the part of the dog.

BOULESTER v. PARSONS.161 Mass. 182.

The leading of a horse behind a wagon on a country road is not such contributory negligence as will preclude the owner from maintaining an action, under the Pub. Sts., c. 102, § 93 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), against the owner of a dog by whom the horse is bitten while being so led.

SHERMAN v. FAVOUR.1 Allen, 191.

The keeper of a dog is liable, under the Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 13 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), for double the amount of damages sustained in consequence of a sudden attack by the dog upon the plaintiff's horse, and barking and leaping at the horse's head, thereby frightening him and rendering him unmanageable.

BREWER ET AL. v. CROSBY.11 Gray, 29.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

The remedy given by the Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 13 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), to "any person injured" by a dog against its owner or keeper includes injuries to property.

BUDDINGTON v. SHEARER ET AL.20 Pick. 477.

In an action of trespass, upon Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 13 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), which provides that every owner or keeper of any dog shall forfeit to any person injured by such dog double the amount of damages sustained by him . . . where the injury was done by two dogs together, belonging to several owners, it was held that each owner was liable only for the damage done by his own dog, and not for the whole damage done by the two dogs.

Liability for Loss of Services caused by Dog Bite.

McCARTHY v. GUILD.

12 Met. 291.

The owner of a dog that injures a minor child so that the parent, by reason of such injury, loses the child's services, and is put to expenses for his cure, is liable to the parent, under Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 13 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), for double the damages by him thus sustained.

Owner's Knowledge of Propensities of Dog. Damages.

PRESSEY v. WIRTH.

3 Allen, 191.

In an action under Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 13 (R. L., c. 102, § 146), to recover double the amount of damages sustained from the bite of a dog, it is not necessary to prove that the owner knew of the vicious character of his dog, or that the dog was accustomed to bite; and the defendant has no ground of exception to an instruction to the jury, that, in case they should find for the plaintiff, they should first compute his damages on the principle of exact and literal compensation for his pain and suffering, and then double the amount.

Validity of Town By-laws licensing Dogs.

COMMONWEALTH v. DOW.

10 Met. 382.

A by-law of a town, made under Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 10, concerning the licensing, regulating and restraining of dogs going at large within the town, will be construed to apply only to dogs owned or kept in the town, although in its terms it applies "to any person permitting his dog to go at large within the town;" and if it is otherwise valid it may be enforced against the owner or keeper of a dog within the town.

The same section in a by-law of a town imposed a penalty of $10 on any person permitting his dog to go at large in the town, unless the dog should be licensed to go at large, and should wear a collar with the name of the owner or keeper, and the word

"licensed" distinctly marked thereon; and the further penalty of $10 if said dog should wear a collar without license. Held, that although the latter part of this section might be repugnant to the Rev. Sts., c. 58, § 12 (R. L., c. 102, § 143), and therefore void, yet that the former part was valid, and that the penalty thereby imposed was recoverable of a person who permitted his dog to go at large without being licensed.

The penalties, imposed by the by-laws of the town of New Bedford in relation to dogs, may be recovered by complaint before the police court of that town.

A dog is "going at large" in a town if he be loose and following the person who has charge of him through the streets of the town at such a distance that he cannot exercise a control over the dog which will prevent his doing mischief.

3. SALES AND MARKETING.

Sale of Oats and Meal.

EATON v. KEGAN.

114 Mass. 433.

By the Gen. Sts., c. 49, § 63 (R. L., c. 57, § 25), sales of oats and meal must be by the bushel, and an action cannot be maintained for their price if sold by the bag.

Slaughter of Calves under Four Weeks Old.

COMMONWEALTH v. RAYMOND.

97 Mass. 567.

In an indictment under the St. of 1866, c. 253, § 1 (R. L., c. 56, § 74), for killing, for the purpose of sale, a calf less than four weeks old it is not necessary to allege, nor in support of the charge is it necessary at the trial to prove, that the defendant knew that the calf was less than four weeks old; nor that he intended to sell the veal in this Commonwealth or to an inhabitant thereof; nor what use the purchaser intended to make of the veal.

In an indictment under the St. of 1866, c. 253, § 1 (R. L., c. 56, § 74), the words "with intent to sell," are equivalent to the words "for the purpose of sale."

Sale of Cider. Word "Makers."COMMONWEALTH v. BOYDEN.183 Mass. 1.

The word "makers" in St. 1894, c. 489, § 1 (R. L., c. 100, § 1), includes both farmers and manufacturers, and neither can sell cider without a license if it contains more than three per cent of alcohol, measured in the manner provided by statute.

Right of City to require Permits from Marketmen.COMMONWEALTH v. CLAY.(Decided, 1916.)

The city of Salem may require a permit, and the payment of a fee thereunder, from persons desiring to sell produce in the public market of said city, before they may occupy a stand in said market.

4. FENCES AND FENCE VIEWERS.

Obligations of Citizens to make and repair Fences.RUST v. LOW AND STANWOOD.6 Mass. 90.

The statutes made by the Legislature of the Commonwealth are the foundation of all the obligations imposed on the citizens by law to make and repair fences.

The tenant of a close is not obliged to fence, but against cattle, which are rightfully on the adjoining land.

Liability of Owner of Unenclosed Land for Line Fence.FAY v. ELLIOTT.154 Mass. 588.

The owner of unenclosed land, who has leased the same and does not occupy it, is not liable, under the Pub. Sts., c. 33 (R. L., c. 33), to the owner of adjoining land for double the expense of building a division fence and the fees of the fence viewers.

Right of Public on Highway. Liability of Owner for Straying Cattle.

STACKPOLE v. HEALY.

16 Mass. 33.

The public have no right in a highway, but a right to pass and repass thereon; they cannot, therefore, justify turning their cattle thereon for the purpose of grazing.

And if cattle, so on the highway, for the purpose of grazing, escape into the adjoining close, the owner of the cattle cannot avail himself of the insufficiency of the fences in excuse of the trespass.

Statute Liability for Building of Line Fence. Duty of Fence Viewers.

O'MALLEY v. MEYER.

221 Mass. 198.

Upon a complaint of a landowner made to fence viewers under R. L., c. 33, where the erection of a division fence is desired, the fence viewers, if their award is to have any validity as the basis of a cause of action, must decide not only that a fence is necessary, but also what part of the fence each landowner is to construct. In the absence of a decision as to such apportionment a landowner who, after the fence viewers determined that a division fence was necessary, built the whole of it himself cannot maintain an action of contract against the owner of the adjoining land to recover double the value of one-half of the fence he has built, his rights being governed and limited by the statute.

Duty of Landowner to maintain Fence.

LITTLE v. LOTHROP.

5 Greenleaf, 356 (Maine).

Where there is no prescription, agreement or assignment under the statute, whereby the owner of land is bound to maintain a fence, no occupant is obliged to fence against an adjoining close; but in such case, there being no fence, each owner is bound at his peril to keep his cattle on his own close.

Where a tenant is bound by prescription, agreement or assignment under the statute to maintain a fence against an adjoining close, it is only against such cattle as are rightfully on that close;

and in such case, if the fence be not in fact made, the owner of either close, thus adjoining, may distrain the cattle escaping from the adjoining close and not rightfully there.

Liability of Landowner to pay for Share of Partition Fence.

FIELD v. THE PROPRIETORS OF COMMON AND UNDIVIDED LAND IN NANTUCKET.

1 Cushing, 11.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

The liability of the owner or occupant of land which has lain unenclosed, on enclosing or depasturing the same, to pay for the one-half of a partition fence, under the Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 12 (R. L., c. 33, § 12), attaches immediately upon such enclosing or depasturing.

The right of an owner, who has erected a partition fence, to recover the value of one-half thereof against the owner of adjoining land is complete by the commencement of proceedings to have the value of such half ascertained by fence viewers, and cannot be defeated by a sale of the land, and a notice by the purchaser, that he does not intend to occupy or improve or enclose it, subsequent to the application to the fence viewers, and notice of such application by them to the original owner, though previous to any further proceedings by them.

Prescriptive Obligation to maintain Fence.

BINNEY v. THE PROPRIETORS OF THE COMMON AND UNDIVIDED LANDS IN HULL.

5 Pick. 503.

Evidence that the plaintiff and his ancestors had for fifty-six years maintained a partition fence between his land and that of the defendants; that fifty-six years ago the fence was an old one, and that at that time the plaintiff's ancestor, being owner of the land, said it had always been maintained by himself and his ancestors, was held sufficient to support a plea of a prescriptive obligation on the plaintiff to maintain it.

A prescriptive obligation on the owner of land to maintain a partition fence is not destroyed by his becoming a tenant in common of the adjoining land.

Liability of Owner in Trespass for Escaping Cattle.THAYER v. ARNOLD.4 Met. 589.

Where a party is not bound by prescription, agreement or assignment of fence viewers to maintain a fence between his land and that of an adjoining owner he may sustain an action of trespass quare clausum fregit against the adjoining owner whose cattle escape into his land. The common law on this point is not altered by the statutes of this Commonwealth.

Liability of Owner of Cattle straying from Highway on Unfenced Land.HARTFORD v. BRADY.114 Mass. 466.

When cattle properly driven upon the highway escape upon unfenced adjoining land their owner is not liable therefor if he makes reasonable effort to remove them and to prevent damage.

Right of Landowner to place Fence on Adjoining Land.NEWELL v. HILL.2 Met. 180.

An occupant of land, who is bound to maintain a fence between his own and an adjoining enclosure, may place half of a fence, of reasonable dimensions, on the land of the adjoining owner. And he may cut half of a ditch on the land of such owner when a ditch is proper for a partition fence.

Suitable Fence for Railroad. Liability of Company for Sheep straying on Track.EAMES v. SALEM & LOWELL R.R. Co.98 Mass. 560.

The "suitable" fences which a railroad corporation is required by the Gen. Sts., c. 63, § 43 (St. 1846, c. 271), to erect and maintain on both sides of the railroad need not of necessity be such fences as are required to be maintained by owners of adjoining improved lands, and described in the Gen. Sts., c. 25, § 1 (R. L., c. 33, § 1), as "legal and sufficient."

If the owner of sheep suffers them to be unlawfully on land from which they stray through an unsuitable fence to the track of an adjoining railroad where they are killed by a passenger train, the railroad corporation is not liable in damages, although the fence was one which it was bound to make and maintain suitably.

If the owner of sheep negligently suffers them to stray on a railroad where they are killed by a passing train, the railroad corporation is not liable in damages.

Recovery for Partition Fence. Meaning of Water Fence.

LAMB v. HICKS.

11 Met. 496.

In an action on the Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 6 (R. L., c. 33, § 6), to recover double the value of a partition fence erected by the plaintiff, after the defendant's refusal to erect it, it is necessary to prove that the fence viewers gave the defendant notice of their meeting before they adjudged the fence sufficient and appraised the value thereof. But as such adjudication and appraisal are one transaction, and are to be made at the same time, it is not necessary that the fence viewers should give the defendant a separate and distinct notice of the two purposes of their meeting.

When a plaintiff, who has erected a fence which the defendant has refused to erect, demands of the defendant double the sum ascertained and certified by the fence viewers as the value of such fence, and also demands the fence viewers' fees, which are not legally taxed, the demand for each item is in its nature several, and the demand for the fees does not render void the demand for the other sum.

A partition fence on land that is covered, a part of the year, with the waters of an artificial mill pond, but is occupied and used as pasture or mowing land during another part of the year, is not a water fence within the meaning of the Rev. Sts., c. 19, §§ 9, 14.

Authority of Fence Viewers to assign Portions of Fence.

SEARS v. INHABITANTS OF CHARLEMONT.

6 Allen, 437.

Under a complaint that a fence is out of repair, fence viewers have no authority to assign to each of the owners of adjoining land his respective share of the fence, and to direct the building thereof within a specified time.

No action lies to recover upon an award of fence viewers, under Gen. Sts., c. 25, §§ 3, 4, unless they have previously adjudicated that the existing fence was insufficient and illegal, and that the fence which the plaintiff has rebuilt is sufficient.

Enforcement of Award of Fence Viewers.

KENNEDY v. OWEN.

134 Mass. 226.

The remedy provided by the Gen. Sts., c. 25, § 4, for enforcing payment of an award of fence viewers is applicable only to a case where the duty of maintaining the fence is required by the statute, and does not apply to a case where such duty arises from the acceptance of a deed containing a condition to maintain it.

Fence Line to be adjudicated by Fence Viewers.

KENNEDY v. OWEN.

131 Mass. 431.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

An action on the Gen. Sts., c. 25, § 4 (R. L., c. 33, § 4), to recover double the value of a partition fence, rebuilt by the plaintiff, and double the amount of the fees of the fence viewers for their services in relation thereto, cannot be maintained unless the fence is built upon the line which divides the premises of the parties, if this is known and undisputed; and in the absence of any adjudication by the fence viewers, under the St. of 1863, c. 190, designating the line on which the fence should be built, the line adopted by the plaintiff is not conclusively binding upon the defendant.

Validity of Partial Assignment of Fence Line by Fence Viewers.

ALGER v. POOL.

11 Cush. 450.

An assignment by fence viewers under Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 5 (R. L., c. 33, § 5), of only a part of a continuous line of partition fence is not for that reason invalid, neither party at the time requesting that the whole line be divided.

After such assignment duly made, the obligations of the parties are fixed to maintain the fence accordingly, and cannot be changed, without consent, by a subsequent view and division by the fence owners of the whole continuous line of partition fence.

Requirement of Notice by Fence Viewers. Liability of Owners of Common Field.

SCOTT v. DICKINSON.

14 Pick. 276.

When in pursuance of the provisions of St. 1785, c. 52 (R. L., c. 33), regulating the erection of fences, the plaintiff had, in consequence of the neglect of the defendant, erected the portion of the fence between their lands which was assigned to the defendant by the fence viewers, and the fence viewers afterwards, upon the application of the plaintiff, but without notice to the defendant, appraised the value of this portion and ascertained the amount of their fees, it was held, in an action brought by the plaintiff under the statute to recover double the value of such valuation, that such appraisal was void as against the defendant, although the statute does not, expressly, require notice thereof to be given to the defendant.

It seems that land which has lain in a common field de facto for a series of years cannot be excluded therefrom merely by an allotment made in pursuance of a vote of the proprietors of the general field.

It seems, also, that under St. 1785, c. 52 (R. L., c. 33), the proprietors of a common field, in their corporate capacity, or as tenants in common and not the individual proprietors holding portions of the common field in severalty, are liable, so far as regards the owner of lands adjoining the common field, to the duty of maintaining the partition fence between such portions of the common field and such adjoining land.

Private Nuisance. "Adjoining Property." Statute. Action.

SPAULDING v. SMITH.

162 Mass. 543.

The owner of land on one side extending to the center of a highway cannot, under St. 1887, c. 348, maintain an action against an owner of land on the opposite side and extending to the center of the same highway for maliciously maintaining, on the line of the highway, opposite the plaintiff's land, a fence unnecessarily exceeding 6 feet in height for the purpose of annoying the plaintiff.

5. FIELD DRIVERS AND POUND KEEPERS.

Right of Field Driver to take Oxen going at Large.DEAN v. LINDSEY.16 Gray, 265.

A field driver who takes oxen going at large in a public highway without a keeper, with the intention of driving them to the town pound, and, before driving them to the pound, drives them into his own yard, goes a third of a mile to find the owner, and having found him says to him, "I have taken two of your oxen and put them in my yard, and if you don't come after them I shall drive them to the pound," is not liable to the owner for a conversion of the cattle.

Right of Field Driver. Liability of Owner depasturing Adjacent Highway.PARKER v. JONES.1 Allen, 270.

The act of a field driver is not necessarily unlawful, although in taking an animal to the pound he drives it first upon the owner's premises.

The owner of land adjoining a highway, and who owns to the center thereof, may depasture his land in the highway, but he is bound, like all other persons, to prevent his cattle from going at large therein without being under the care of a keeper.

Authority of Field Driver. Requirements of Notice.PHILLIPS v. BRISTOL.131 Mass. 426.

A field driver cannot at the same time distrain and impound cattle for both causes prescribed by the Gen. Sts., c. 25 (R. L., c. 33), — for going at large in the highway without a keeper, and for doing damage on private lands.

If one cause of the impounding of cattle by a field driver is the damage done by them to the land of A, a notice by the field driver to the owner of the cattle, describing them and stating that they were impounded "for being at large out of enclosure in the highway, said cattle delivered to me in said highway by the agent of A," and that the damage to A, together with the fees of the field driver and pound keeper, amounted to a certain sum, is not a sufficient notice under the Gen. Sts., c. 25, § 29 (R. L., c. 33, § 31).

WILD v. SKINNER.

23 Pick. 251.

Under Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 22 (R. L., c. 33, § 22), requiring field drivers to take up and impound at any time cattle going at large in the highway without a keeper, a field driver is authorized to impound cattle so going at large on Sunday, the action of debt to which the owner is subjected by the statute in such case being merely a cumulative remedy.

The field driver in such case is not bound, under Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 6 (R. L., c. 33, § 29), to leave with the pound keeper a memorandum stating the cause of impounding and the damages demanded, this being requisite only where cattle are impounded damage feasant.

If the owner of the cattle replevy them within twenty-four hours after they have been impounded he cannot afterwards object that no notice of such impounding was given him in conformity with the provision of Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8 (R. L., c. 33, § 31).

COFFIN v. VINCENT.

12 Cush. 98.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

To prove the contents of a notice posted up by a field driver who had distrained sheep for running at large, a witness who read it may testify to its contents, the notice being lost, and may refresh his recollection by referring to a proper form of such a notice, which, although not made by himself, he had compared with the notice posted up and found to correspond.

In an action against a field driver who had impounded sheep for running at large contrary to law, an instruction to the jury that if they were satisfied that the notice of the impounding was posted up within twenty-four hours in some public place by the defendant, containing a description of the sheep and a statement of the time, place and cause of impounding, they might find a verdict for the defendant, sufficiently imports that the burden of proof is upon the defendant to show that the notice posted up contained a statement of some particular specific cause known to the law for which the beasts were taken up, especially if more specific instructions on this point are not requested by the plaintiff at the trial.

A field driver who lawfully impounds sheep running at large contrary to law, and duly posts a notice thereof, is not liable to the owner of the beasts as a trespasser ab initio, although he fails either to restore the sheep or sell them according to law, through the default of the pound keeper or other person, or from the insufficiency of the pound, the animals being lawfully in the pound keeper's custody.

BRUCE v. HOLDEN.

21 Pick. 187.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

When a field driver impounds beasts for being at large in the highway it is his duty to leave with the pound keeper a memorandum or certificate of the cause of impounding and of his fees or expenses, and such certificate is an official act, and in an action of trespass against him for taking the beasts is prima facie evidence in his favor of the facts stated in it.

CLEVERLY v. TOWLE.

3 Allen, 39.

A written notice, posted up and published in a newspaper by a field driver who has impounded beasts going at large in a public highway, which states that the beasts were "going at large, and without a helper," sets forth a sufficient cause of impounding under Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 9 (R. L., c. 33, § 32).

SANDERSON v. LAWRENCE.

2 Gray, 178.

A notice in writing, given by a field driver to the owner of beasts impounded for going at large in the highway, which states that the beasts "were running at large, and were trespassing upon the premises of other individuals," does not state a sufficient cause of impounding, as required by Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8 (R. L., c. 33, § 31).

Requirements of Notice from Field Driver to Owner of Beasts impounded. Meaning of Highway.

PICKARD v. HOWE.

12 Met. 198.

The notice which a person who impounds beasts is required by Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8, to give to the owner of them within twenty-four hours need not state the hour of the day when they were impounded. And proof that notice was left in the hands of one of the owner's family, at his dwelling house, is sufficient to authorize a jury to find that it was left at his place of abode.

A field driver who impounds beasts for going at large on a public highway is not bound by Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 6 (R. L., c. 33, § 29), to leave with the pound keeper a memorandum stating the cause of the impounding and the sum that he demands from the owner.

It is no objection to the notice required by Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8 (R. L., c. 33, § 31), to be given by a field driver to the owner of impounded cattle, that the field driver's name is signed by another person, if it be done at the field driver's request.

In an action of replevin brought against a field driver by the owner of the cattle impounded by him for going at large, the defendant may show in evidence not only that he gave the plaintiff the notice required by Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8 (R. L., c. 33, § 29), but also that he posted notices according to the provisions of section 9. But the plaintiff cannot give evidence that the cattle were not suitably provided for or were ill treated in the pound.

A notice given by a field driver to the owner of cattle, that they are impounded for going at large on the public highway, is prima facie evidence that they were so at large, and puts on the owner the burden of proving the contrary.

A turnpike is a public highway within the meaning of Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 22, which require field drivers to take up and impound cattle going at large in the public highways.

Requirements of Notice by Field Driver to Pound Keeper.

SHERMAN v. BRAMAN.

13 Met. 407.

B took up beasts doing damage on his land, and impounded them in his own enclosure for several hours, and then drove them toward the town pound, and delivered them, in the highway near the pound, to the pound keeper (who was also a field driver) as cattle taken doing damage, but did not leave with the pound keeper a written memorandum, as required by the Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 6 (R. L., c. 33, § 29), stating the cause of impounding and the sum that he demanded for the damage done. The pound keeper put the beasts into the pound and gave the owner the notice required to be given by field drivers when they impound beasts taken up for going at large contrary to law. Held, that B became a trespasser ab initio by failing to leave with the pound keeper the written memorandum required by law, and was answerable to the owner of the beasts in an action of trespass for taking, driving away and detaining them.

Requirements of Written Notice by Distrainer.

NEWHOUSE v. HATCH.

126 Mass. 364.

A person distraining cattle doing damage on his land impounded them in the town pound and handed the keeper the following written memorandum, with his name and a date upon the paper: "Two dollars for damages and three dollars and fifty cents for fees." Held, that the memorandum was defective in not stating the cause of impounding, as required by Gen. Sts., c. 25, § 27 (R. L., c. 33, § 29), and that such person was a trespasser ab initio.

Waiver of Notice of Impounding. Action of Replevin, when commenced.

FIELD v. JACOBS.

12 Met. 118.

When the owner of cattle that are impounded by a field driver for going at large contrary to law commences an action of replevin against the field driver within twenty-four hours after they are impounded, he waives the notice which the Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8 (R. L., c. 33, § 31), require the field driver to give him, and cannot rely, in support of his action, on the want of such notice.

If a writ to replevin impounded cattle is filled up within twenty-four hours after they are impounded, with the intent of the plaintiff, at all events, to have it served, whether the defendant shall give him notice of the impounding within twenty-four hours or not, the action of replevin is commenced when the writ is filled up, although it is not served, nor given to an officer for service, and no replevin bond is executed, until after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time of the impounding.

Liability of Person distraining Cattle.

MERRICK v. WORK.

10 Allen, 544.

If beasts doing damage are distrained, and driven to the distrainer's yard till the pound keeper can be called, and then delivered to the latter in the highway, it is the duty of the distrainer to state his demand, and to give notices as required in Gen. Sts., c. 25, §§ 27, 29, 30 (R. L., c. 33, §§ 29, 31, 32), and if he omits to do so he will be liable as a trespasser ab initio.

Liability of Pound Keeper to Owner of Beasts impounded.

FOLGER v. HINCKLEY.

5 Cushing, 263.

A pound keeper who receives and impounds beasts for going at large, and refuses to deliver them to the owner on demand, unless his fees and those of the field driver are paid, is not liable therefor in an action of replevin.

Action of Replevin for Beasts distrained. Notice. Rights of Owner of Beasts impounded.

COFFIN v. FIELD.

7 Cushing, 355.

The action of replevin given by the Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 17, to one whose beasts are unlawfully distrained or impounded does not exclude all other remedies at common law; trespass will still lie.

Actual knowledge by the owner of beasts impounded of the impounding thereof is not equivalent to the written notice required by the Rev. Sts., c. 113, § 8 (R. L., c. 33, § 31).

The owner of beasts impounded does not waive the right to maintain trespass against the field driver by whom the beasts were taken and impounded, on the ground of irregularities or omissions in their proceedings, by paying the fees of the field driver and pound keeper; nor by declaring to a third person, after the commencement of the action, that he should require the defendants to prove that the place where they took the beasts was a public highway.

Impounding Cattle.CONNERS v. LÖKER.134 Mass. 510.

The mere driving cows off a person's land into the highway, and detaining them there until the owner comes and takes them away, and then demanding a sum of money as damages, is not, as matter of law, an impounding of the cows.

Cattle, when under Control of Keeper. Meaning of Keeper.BRUCE v. WHITE.4 Gray, 345.

Cattle in a highway, not actually under the efficient control of a keeper, are "going at large in the highways, and not under the care of a keeper," within the meaning of the Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 22 (R. L., c. 33, § 22), and may be taken up and impounded by a field driver, although they have been entrusted by their owner to a servant, with other cattle, and have only left the drove a mile before reaching the pasture, and turned into a different road, also leading to the pasture, over which they have sometimes been driven, and there remain feeding, and the servant returns in less than an hour to the place where he lost them.

A person who finds cattle at large in the highway not under the care of a keeper, and drives them along the highway until he finds a field driver, is not a keeper within the meaning of Rev. Sts., c. 19, § 22 (R. L., c. 33, § 22), and the field driver may lawfully receive and impound them.

Pound Breach.COMMONWEALTH v. BEALE.5 Pick. 514.

Upon an indictment for pound breach the illegality of the distress cannot be shown in the defence.

The penalties of St. 1788, c. 65, § 6 (R. L., c. 33, § 38), for pound breach, or otherwise delivering creatures from a pound, are extended to cases of creatures impounded for going at large contrary to St. 1799, c. 61.

Town Pound, when established.ANTHONY v. ANTHONY.6 Allen, 408.

A pound keeper may lawfully impound beasts which have been distrained damage feasant in a yard furnished and used by the town as a town pound, if the town has furnished and used no other place as a pound, although the inhabitants of the town have passed no vote concerning the same, and taken no action at any town meeting for the purpose of establishing it as a pound.

Validity of Sale at Auction of Impounded Beasts.SMITH v. GATES.21 Pick. 55.

Under the Rev. Sts., c. 113, §§ 11, 12 (R. L., c. 33, §§ 34, 35), providing that where appraisers are appointed to determine the amount due from the owner of an impounded beast for damages, etc., and the sum found by them to be due is not forthwith paid, the person impounding may cause the beast to be sold by auction, first advertising the sale by posting up a notice thereof twenty-four hours beforehand, it was held that where a beast impounded by a field driver was sold twenty minutes before the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time when the appraisement was completed the sale was invalid, and the field driver a trespasser ab initio, although more than twenty-four hours had elapsed from the time of posting up the advertisement; and that it was immaterial, in such case, whether any actual injury had been sustained by the owner of the beast in consequence of this neglect of duty on the part of the field driver or not.

The statute intends that the owner of the beast impounded shall have an opportunity to pay the appraised damages and charges before the posting up of an advertisement for the sale of the beast.

6. OWNERSHIP OF MANURE.Ownership of Manure by Tenant.NASON v. TOBEY.182 Mass. 314.

Although manure made in the ordinary course of husbandry belongs to the landlord of a leased farm, and perhaps under some circumstances may belong to him even if made from hay furnished by the tenant, yet, when animals are collected on a farm to a greater number than it is capable of supporting, and are fed there upon purchased food for the purpose of carrying on the milk business, the tenant has a right to some ascertainable proportion of the manure.

FLETCHER v. HERRING.

112 Mass. 382.

Manure so made or held as to be the personal property of an outgoing tenant does not necessarily become real estate by being left upon the premises after the expiration of the tenancy.

Title to Manure on Leased Farm.

DANIELS v. POND.

21 Pickering, 367.

“The court are of opinion that manure made on a farm, occupied by a tenant at will or for years in the ordinary course of husbandry, consisting of the collections from the stable and barn yard, or of composts formed by an admixture of these with soil or other substances, is, by usage, practice and general understanding, so attached to, and connected with, the realty that in the absence of any express stipulation on the subject an outgoing tenant has no right to recover the manure thus collected or sell it to be removed, and that such removal is a tort for which the landlord may have redress; and such sale will vest no property on the vendee.

“The rule here adopted will not be considered as applying to manure made in a livery stable, or in any manner not connected with agriculture or in a course of husbandry.”¹

7. FARM LABOR.

Workmen's Compensation Act, Farmer. Words "Driver," "Helper," "Farm Laborers."

PATRICK KEANEY'S CASE.

217 Mass. 5.

A farmer carrying on a market garden may procure insurance under the workmen's compensation act covering his "drivers and helpers" employed in the distribution of the produce of the farm without insuring his other employees who are merely "farm laborers," and this is so whether or not such "drivers and helpers" are "farm laborers," which here was not decided.

An employee on a farm carried on as a market garden, who does the ordinary work of one hired by a farmer to aid in the common incidents of agricultural employment, is neither a "driver" nor a "helper" within the meaning of a policy of employers' liability insurance covering "drivers and helpers" employed in the distribution of the produce of the farm, although occasionally he has driven a team as part of his farm work and in a general sense has helped about the farm.

The provision of the workmen's compensation act, contained in Acts of 1911, c. 751, Part I, § 2, that the provisions of section 1, taking away certain defences in an action for personal injuries by an employer, shall not apply to actions by farm laborers, includes the farm laborers of all farmers so far as concerns farming operations, whether the farmers carry on other business or not.

Negligence, Employers' Liability. Words "Farm Laborer," "Employer Himself."

ROWLEY v. ELLIS.

197 Mass. 391.

Under § 79 of R. L., c. 106 (Acts of 1911, c. 751), which provides that "the provisions of the eight preceding sections shall not apply to injuries caused to domestic servants or farm laborers by fellow employees," a foreman in charge of one of four farms belonging to the same owner, under the direction of a superintendent who visits each farm once a day, such foreman receiving a salary of $35 a month, and having sixteen or eighteen men under him, is a farm laborer within the meaning of the statute, and, if he is killed without conscious suffering by the violent breaking of the sprocket chain of a cutting machine when he is showing the workmen how to feed corn stalks into the machine, his widow cannot recover from his employer for his death under the provisions of section 73 of the same chapter, although she shows that the accident was caused by the sprocket around which the chain passed having become worn by use, that the duty of inspecting and caring for the safety of the cutting machine was entrusted to the superintendent, and that the superintendent was negligent in not discovering the defect and causing the necessary repairs to be made.

“The negligence of an employer himself,” for which he is liable under R. L., c. 106, § 73 (Acts of 1911, c. 751), if it results in the instant death or death without conscious suffering of an employee, does not include the negligence of one to whom the employer has delegated the duty of maintaining machinery in a safe condition, for which, among other things, the employer is made liable by the succeeding words of the same section.

Employer’s Liability for Injury to Farm Hand. Assumption of Risk.

SMITH v. LINCOLN.

198 Mass. 388.

At the trial of an action of tort against a farmer by one employed by him as a farm hand, who sought recovery for personal injuries received by him by falling into a silo in the defendant’s barn, it appeared that the plaintiff was employed at about noon, and, at once after his employment, and before he had inspected the premises, was directed to go to defendant’s barn and clean certain stalls which were at the left of the door; that he opened the door to the barn and entered and closed the door behind him because he thought that the defendant wanted it kept so; that the barn was then as dark as on a dark night, and, in proceeding to the stalls which he was to clean, he fell into the silo, which was directly in his path; that the opening to the silo was about 3 feet wide and, if he had left the door open, he would have been able to see and avoid it. Held, that the plaintiff had assumed the risk of the injury which he received.

8. CRANBERRY BOGS.

Right of Cranberry Grower to build Dam on Nonnavigable Stream.

HOWES v. GRUSH.

131 Mass. 207.

It is within the power of the Legislature to authorize such a use of a stream which is not navigable as will wholly destroy a public fishery.

In an action by the owner of a cranberry meadow against a fish committee of a town for tearing away the plaintiff’s dam, built under the provisions of the St. of 1866, c. 206 (R. L., c. 196, § 39), across a stream not navigable, the defendant asked the judge to rule that if the plaintiff could have constructed his dam or meadow so that his use of the water would not injure a public fishery he was bound to do it, and, if he did not, the committee had the right to reduce the dam to the point necessary to avoid such interference or injury. The judge declined so to rule; but instructed the jury that it was the duty of the plaintiff to use reasonable care, skill and prudence in building and maintaining the dam, in the preparation, by way of grading and otherwise, of his meadow before it was overflowed, and in raising and drawing off the water, so as to do the least injury to the fishery consistent with a reasonable exercise of his right to construct a dam, giving full instructions as to the meaning of the words "reasonable care, skill and prudence;" and that, if the plaintiff so exercised his right, and drew off the water at a proper time and only in a manner necessary for the cultivation of cranberries, the plaintiff was not responsible for injury to the fishery by reason of the spawn of the fish being deposited in shallow water on the meadow and injured by the drawing off of the water; and that, upon such a state of facts, the defendant had no right to remove the dam. Held, that the defendant had no ground of exception.

In an action by the owner of a cranberry meadow against a fish committee of a town for tearing away the plaintiff's dam, built under the provisions of St. of 1866, c. 206 (R. L., c. 196, § 39), across a stream not navigable, the defendant requested the judge to rule that if the dam was built, without permission of the town, on land of the town, or under the bridge, the defendant had the right to remove it. The judge declined so to rule, but instructed the jury that the plaintiff had no right to build his dam in the highway with or without the consent of the town, nor to build it on land of the town without the consent of the town; and that, if it was so built, the defendant had the right to remove it. Held, that the defendant had no ground of exception.

In an action by the owner of a cranberry bog for the removal of his dam, the jury were instructed not to regard the injury caused by frost and insects, after the date of the writ, as distinct and independent grounds of damage, but that the true measure of damages was the diminution in value of the land for cranberry culture caused by the act of the defendant. Held, that the defendant had no ground of exception.

Right to flow Cranberry Bog.HINCKLEY v. NICKERSON.117 Mass. 213.

Neither the provision of the Gen. Sts., c. 149, § 2 (R. L., c. 196, § 2), that no mill dam shall be erected to the injury of any mill lawfully existing on the same stream, nor the fact of any right acquired for an ancient mill by prescription, prevents the erection, above an existing mill, of a dam, under the St. of 1866, c. 206 (R. L., c. 196, § 39), for the purpose of flowing land appropriated to the cultivation of the cranberry, reasonably adapted to the character of the stream, although its effect may be to modify or disturb somewhat the regularity of the flow of the current.

Under the St. of 1866, c. 206 (R. L., c. 196, § 39), authorizing the maintaining a dam upon an unnavigable stream for the purpose of flowing a cranberry meadow, a person who withdraws for such purpose, and for a reasonable time, the water of a stream by means of a dam is not, if his meadow is not too large to be flowed by the stream, liable to the owner of a similar meadow below upon the same stream who is thereby deprived of sufficient water to flow it for several days during the time when it is equally necessary for each.

Gathering Cranberries on Lord's Day.COMMONWEALTH v. THIE.190 Mass. 578.

Gathering cranberries on the Lord's day, when there is an unusually large crop but no sudden and unexpected emergency, is not a work of necessity within the meaning of St. 1904, c. 460, § 2.

9. MISCELLANEOUS.

Adverse Possession of Right of Way.BALL v. ALLEN.216 Mass. 469.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

The owner of a farm, through which the owner of an adjoining farm has a defined right of way, not only may fence the sides of the way, but also may erect and maintain at his own expense such gates or bars across the ends of the way as are reasonably necessary for his own protection in the pasturage of cattle or other proper use and enjoyment of his own property.

Where a farm is crossed by a defined right of way belonging to the owner of the adjoining farm, it is a matter of common knowledge that bars maintained at the ends of the way by the owner of the servient farm make the use of the way by the owner of the dominant farm more onerous than the maintenance of a gate at each end, and, if the owner of the servient farm removes a gate at one end of the way and substitutes a barway which he has not maintained adversely for twenty years, he can be compelled by a suit in equity brought by the owner of the dominant farm to remove the bars and restore the gate.

The owner of a farm, crossed by a right of way, by maintaining bars across the end of such way for more than twenty years consecutively can acquire a prescriptive right to maintain a barway there instead of a gate.

The owner of a right of way as appurtenant to a certain parcel of land belonging to him has no right to use the right of way for the purpose of access to other land belonging to him, although such other land abuts on the dominant estate.

Keeping Swine within Town Limits.

COMMONWEALTH v. RAWSON.

183 Mass. 491.

A by-law of a town, adopted when the town had a board of health having jurisdiction of offensive trades and employment under R. L., c. 75, § 1, providing that no person should keep within the limits of the town more than five swine, exclusive of the offspring of the five less than four months old, is invalid as against a person engaged in the business of keeping swine in that town.

Rights of Officers of Agricultural Societies.

COMMONWEALTH v. RUGGLES.

6 Allen, 588.

The officers of an agricultural society have no authority to define and fix bounds, for other purposes than those specially enumerated in the statute, within which no person shall be permitted to enter or pass unless in conformity with their regulations.

The officers of an agricultural society, who have unlawfully fixed and defined bounds for the purpose of exhibiting horses in a public highway, have no right to obstruct public travel thereon, although there is sufficient room for public travel on the other parts of the highway; and they may be convicted of assault and battery, if without legal process they have arrested a person within such bounds who, when directed to fall back, refused to do so, and without malice or unlawful intent struck the horse of a marshal of the society, although he was wilfully and maliciously in the highway for the purpose of obstructing the exhibition of horses there.

Form of Complaint for Case of Trespass.

COMMONWEALTH v. DOUGHERTY.

6 Gray, 349.

[PART OF REPORTER'S HEADNOTE.]

A complaint on St. 1855, c. 457 (R. L., c. 208, § 105), for the malicious destruction of a tree, shrub or vine on the land of another must aver an unlawful entry by the defendant on the land.
